Solution

Some IT companies will network your computers together, and call that a solution.

But the most successful IT solutions are a lot more than that. They're about harnessing technology to work more efficiently, shaping the technology to the specific challenges of your business.

One partner will provide you with that solution. That partner is Square One.

| engineering | with experience

With every project you get a handpicked team, led by a senior engineer, to work with you from the start.

Each member of our technical staff completes rigorous industry training to stay current with new technology. And your team is backed by the combined knowledge and experience of our complete organization, always available to make sure we get the job done right.

It's this combination of seasoned perspective, knowledge and teamwork, which will ensure that your technology works for you.

| designing | solutions for you

Even at today's pace, careful planning is an important step for successful growth. When we start a project, we take the time to listen, learn, and understand your objectives. We make sure our solution fits your unique business—your audience, your goals, how you operate.

No matter what business you're in, we will design a scalable solution that's right for you. We've engineered complex global networks and we've designed systems for departmental and small business ventures.

We will work with you to ensure that the technology meets your needs today as well as the growing demands of the future.

| services | we provide

■ NETWORKING AND COMMUNICATIONS

We design, install and manage network systems using a variety of operating environments, including Microsoft Windows, UNIX and Novell Netware. We work with Cisco, Nortel Networks and other specialized vendors to provide high performance solutions for local, wide area and virtual private networks.

■ NETWORK SECURITY

We work with the leaders in the security industry, among them Check Point, Internet Security Systems, Nokia and RSA Security. We have helped companies, both large and small, to protect intellectual assets and secure their communications.

■ REMOTE ACCESS SERVICES

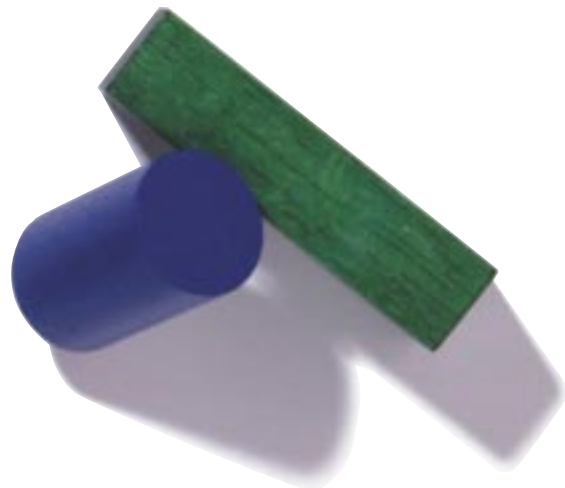

We design cost-effective solutions for dial-up and broadband remote access. We can help reduce your telecommunications costs while at the same time increasing the level of coverage and service for your end-users.

■ HELP DESK OPERATIONS

We provide a variety of helpdesk services for our customer base. Our remote management solution uses the latest tools to support worldwide WAN monitoring, pro-active problem resolution, bandwidth management, and capacity planning. We also provide helpdesk services at client sites handling network, server and desktop support.

■ CUSTOM DEVELOPMENT

We develop web-based applications using SQL, ASP, XML, and Java-based programming tools. As a Lotus Notes Business Partner, we have developed custom Notes applications to improve the business process and automate workflow.
